Sorry for the Absence

This too shall pass . . .

Hello Everybody!

Sorry for the absence! I first must Thank all of you that have checked on me and have expressed your sympathies for our loss! I must let you know why I'm so out of sorts the last 2 weeks! My 15 yr-old daughter from a previous marriage has lost her father completely unexpectedly! He had a very hard life and has struggled for many years with his depression going untreated. While Kaylyn and her father had a close relationship, we could never have expected this! He had talked with us On Tuesday and gave up his life on Wednesday. My daughter's grief is unbearable and she'll never have the answers she so desperately needs!

If you know anyone suffering through depression or bipolar, please take care and remember to listen seriously for any requests for help. These signs may be so small, we take them for granted and you might not get that second chance. Kaylyn is making her way through the roller coaster of emotions and anxiety, but this is such a horrible thing to have to watch your child and family suffer through. There are no words to comfort her, just my time and love.

If you have any orders or emails that I haven't answered, please be patient, I WILL be responding soon. I have tried to get back to everyday tasks, but am finding it difficult some mornings. While my daughter has lost a father, I lost a long time love and good friend!

I've just added many new focals to my web site and hope to have lots of

In Loving Memory . . .

Fill not your hearts with pain and sorrow,
but remember me in every tomorrow.
Remember the joy, laughter and smiles.
I've only gone to rest for a while.
Although my leaving causes pain and grief,
my going
has eased my hurt and given me relief.
So dry your eyes and remember me, not as I am but as I used to be.
Because, I will remember you all and look on with a smile. Understand in your hearts, I've only gone to rest a while. As long as I have the love of you, I can live my life in the hearts of you all.
